"After months in the heart of so-called darkest Africa' I come to so-talled peaceful Tulsa and acquire my only wound in that length of time of m an animal. 'Darkest Africa' by the way, is a misnomer. It is the land of eternal sunshine and beauty and of eternal sunshine and beauty and I believe that on my recent gopiles hunting expedition I have found the most beautiful spot in the world.
The Impenetrable foresis' of Africa.

Would Preserve Species.

During his last trip to Africa Akeley not only secured gorilla specimens for African hall, connected with the New York museum of natural history, but he brought back as well the only motion pictures ever made of the gorilla in its native surroundings. In order to guard against the extermination of the gorilla Akeley is working to have set aside in the "most beautiful specimen to the Belgian Congo a reservation in which the species may be preserved to the world. That this can be financed and that it will have the Would Preserve Species. e financed and that it will have the acking of the king and queen of telgium as well as Belgian scentists he famous texidermist is sure. In eed, he made the statement Friday has the statement friday deed, he made the statement Frinay that he was expecting at any time communication from the Belgian royal pair stating their attitude towards his project. Akeley made the statement in this connection that the Beigian government was doing more than it has ever done for the natives of the Congo.

The scrilla group is to be one of mere than it has ever done for the natives of the Congo.

The gorilla group is to be one of the most beautiful of the several groups that will grace African hall. The hall is Akeley's latest and most pretentious plan and New York art complements are discussing it with utmost interest. Its primary purpose is to preserve for the ages the fast-disappearing species of animal life in Africa; this will be done through the medium of bronze and clay groups, mountings and special paintings that will fill, an immense itself in the museum. The effect will be that of looking through open windows into an African out-of doors. In order to insure perfect accuracy as well as faithful representation of the unparalleled beauty of the country, Akeley will take back to Africa with him on his trip next spring an artist who will transfer to canvas the landscapes of the hunter's most beautiful jungles for background for the African group. If there is one cutstanding feature in his mose than twenty years work as hunter and taxidermist, it is the fact that he has made of taxideny an art. Akeley said yesterday.

"When I first began my work," he said, "the standing and compensa-
